INTERESTS AND PASSIONS

Environmentalism

- I was a senior member of the newly formed 'Eco-Club' during my high school years. My proximity to nature (being from the island nation of Bermuda) has allowed me to see first-hand the detrimental effects of climate change, from mass pollution washing up on our shores, to the very real threat of rising sea-levels. Beach-clean ups are something I regularly organise and take part in, as well as presentations to the wider community spreading awareness on these issues. I took part in an 'Upcycled Fashion Show' with my peers where we modelled and then auctioned second-hand clothing, with the proceeds being donated to local charities. I was also instrumental in conducting an energy audit at my high-school, with the ultimate goal being to install solar panels on one of the academic buildings in the years following.

Surfing and Lion-Fishing

- I have been surfing for almost six years now, and it is something that I truly love. A mutually beneficial relationship with the ocean is something that I cherish, and it ties into my passion for environmental sustainability; the 'Take 3 for the Sea' initiative is something that I actively participate in. Another hobby I have taken up in the past two years is Lion-Fishing. Lionfish are an invasive species to the Atlantic, and their population has exploded, having detrimental effects on the Bermudian coral reef ecosystem. I have obtained my license and am now an active member of the Bermuda Lionfish Culling Program to assist in minimising the local Lionfish population (an added benefit is that Lionfish taste great!).

SKILLS

IT Skills

- Proficient in the Microsoft Office Suite including: Outlook, Word, Excel and PowerPoint.
- As a digital native, I've grown up utilising social media platforms like Instagram, Snapchat, Twitter and Facebook.

Interpersonal and Communicative Skills

- My previous jobs in catering and estate management have provided me the skills to interact and communicate effectively with a wide range of people from a plethora of backgrounds.
